Dear DOJ Sirs,

It is my understanding that the purpose of the anti-trust laws is to protect the consumer and only the consumer. As far as I can tell, the only entities even alleged to be damaged in the Microsoft case are a few whining competitors of Microsoft.

I have seen no evidence presented that any consumer has been damaged by Microsoft, so leave Microsoft alone.

Please, just do your job and enforce the law as written to protect the consumer and don't worry about a few companies who can't run with the big dogs.

If the consumer starts getting hurt, we'll be the first to let you know. Then, and only then, should you jump in and enforce the law.

Sincerely yours,
Meredith Raney
